

1999 Clarke Prize Laureate

James J. Morgan, Ph.D.

Marvin L. Goldberger Professor of Environmental Engineering California Institute of Technology

With a career that has spanned over 35 years, Dr. Morgan has been deemed to be the “master guru of aquatic chemistry” by his peers. He has been described as a gifted pioneer within his field, a captivating classroom teacher, and a leader among men. Among his many awards, he was honored with the 1999 Stockholm Water Prize, presented by King Carl XVI Gustaf of Sweden. At present, Dr. Morgan is the Marvin L. Goldberger Professor of Environmental Engineering at the California Institute of Technology (Caltech) in Pasadena, California.

Dr. Morgan’s research achievements have led to the development of improved technologies for the treatment of wastewater and drinking water. He had also made fundamental contributions in several areas, including groundbreaking discoveries regarding acid rain in Southern California as well as the transport of heavy metals and contaminants in ocean and coastal waters. In addition, he has authored over 100 peer-reviewed technical publications and co-authored the pivotal textbook, Aquatic Chemistry.
