

Photos from the 2003 Clarke Prize Award Ceremony and Lecture

Clarke Laureates pose before the 2003 Clarke Prize Award Ceremony and Lecture:
(from left) Dr. Charles O'Melia (2000), Dr. Walter Weber (1996), Dr. Harry Ridgway (2002), and Dr. George Tchobanoglous (2003).

2003 Honoree Dr. George Tchobanoglous (third from right) with family and guests before the Ceremony.

Dr. George Tchobanoglous received numerous proclamations and letters of congratulations from California senators, U.S. House of representatives, and former Governor Gray Davis, as well as from President George W. Bush.

Dr. Georges Tchobanoglous and his family at dinner during the Clarke Prize Award and Lecture Ceremony, which was held at the St. Regis Monarch Beach Resort & Spa in Dana Point, California.

Mrs. Joan Irvine Smith, patron of the Clarke Prize, presents Dr. George Tchobanoglous with the Clarke Medallion.

Dr. George Tchobanoglous receives the $50,000 award from Mrs. Joan Irvine Smith. The Clarke Prize was created in honor of Mrs. Smith's mother, Athalie Richardson Irvine Clarke.

Dr. George Tchobanoglous' 2003 Clarke Prize Lecture was on "The Importance of Decentralized Wastewater Management in the Twenty-first Century."

Over 200 guests attended the Clarke Prize Award Ceremony and Lecture honoring Dr. George Tchobanoglous.

Clarke Laureates Dr. Harry Ridgway (2002), Dr. Walter Weber (1996), Clarke Prize patron Mrs. Joan Irvine Smith, Dr. George Tchobanoglous (2003), and Dr. Charles O'Melia (2000).